KAntrak™ STARTER KITS

AT A GLANCE

- Starter Kits combines all of the hardware and software necessary for the programmer to start developing applications for use with the KAntrak™ 2700/2710.

- The Starter kits includes the flexible SDK software with the necessary programming and power harnesses, a KAntrak™ display/KCIM, an optional Keil compiler all packaged in a protective case.

Product Description

The KAntrak™ 2700/2710 has established a new standard for intelligent, multi-function displays. This ideal man-machine interface is easily configured with user-friendly software to measure, display, store, process and transmit data.

As a high technology forward thinking company, Kongsberg not only offers well-engineered and competitively priced graphical displays, but also comprehensive Starter Kits. The kits include all the hardware and software necessary to allow customers to start developing software for their specific ap-plication and use within the KAntrak™ 2700/2710. The SDK is the same set of software development tools our own software engineers use on customers' projects.
